Question: 28222: Signing plans call for an Electronic Display Sign (EDS), pay item #700-11-262 with a flashing beacon. Basis of Estimates (BOE) under the EDS states that, "If sign beacons are needed, include pay item 700-12-AB." I can only assume that with adding this flashing beacon pay item #700-12-21, that it would ONLY include the beacon, for the cabinet, controller, and solar panel would be redundant, since they are already included with the EDS. By doing this our unit price would not be representative of a full 700-12-21 beacon assembly, for 2 out of the 4 would be partial assemblies (Beacons Only). My concern is that if this 700-12-21 item is overrun and an additional full assembly is required for the project. Then how would the contractor be compensated for this full assembly, when their unit price contains 2 partial assemblies?

Answer: The quantity for pay item 700-12-21 (flashing beacons) shall be reduced from four (4) to two (2), and pay item 700-11-262 (electronic display sign) includes the flashing beacon and all associated hardware necessary for a complete installation.
