
CHAPTER 17

SOURCE CODE LICENSE AGREEMENT

PURPOSE:

To identify the requirements a Senior Management Service (SMS) manager or traditional Select Exempt Service (SES) manager must comply with in order to grant another governmental entity a royalty free, perpetual, nontransferable, and nonexclusive license for specific software, including source code, belonging to the Florida Department of Transportation (Department).

AUTHORITY:

Sections 20.23(3)(a) and 334.048(3), Florida Statutes (F.S.)

SCOPE:

This procedure applies to all Department personnel, and all consultants and contract personnel working for, or under the guidance of, the Department, and all computer software owned by the Florida Department of Transportation.

BACKGROUND:

Software developed, purchased, or acquired by Department employees or contract personnel in the performance of their duties for the Department is the property of the Department. In contrast for clarification, the Department does not purchase the Windows operating system software for a personal computer, it buys a license for that software. The Windows software license becomes the property of the Department, but not the software itself.

Circumstances may arise when it is desirable or beneficial to the Department to give software, including source code, owned by the Department to another governmental entity such as another state's transportation department.

17.1 REQUIREMENTS FOR GRANTING A SOFTWARE LICENSE

17.1.1 The software license to be granted is for software that has been developed, purchased, or acquired by Department employees or contract personnel in the performance of their duties for the Department and is the property of the Department.

17.1.2 The software license to be granted is a royalty free, perpetual, nontransferable, and nonexclusive license for specific software belonging to the Florida Department of Transportation.

17.1.3 The appropriate Senior Management Service (SMS) or traditional Select Exempt Service (SES) manager is authorized to grant a software license to another governmental entity. The appropriate SMS or traditional SES manager is the SMS or traditional SES manager responsible for the function supported by the FDOT-owned software.

17.1.4 The SMS or traditional SES manager granting the software license is responsible for ensuring the Department's form titled Software License Agreement, Form No. 325-060-11 (for Florida State Agencies) or 325-060-12 (for Other State Agencies), a legally binding license agreement, is properly completed and signed. The SMS or traditional SES manager is responsible for contacting the Department's Chief Information Officer's office to obtain a number for the form being completed, for reviewing the terms and conditions of the software license agreement with the recipient, for retaining a file copy of the completed Agreement and for forwarding a copy of the completed Agreement to the Department's Chief Information Officer.
