Senator Bill Galvano
Florida Senate President

And I want to thank each and every one of you who has agreed to serve on these task forces, as we take a new approach to infrastructure here in the state of Florida. A new approach that will help us plan and invest strategically into the future considering our population growth. Revitalize our rural communities. Protect our unique natural resources and provide for public safety.

The truth is the legislature and the Governor, we have given the ball to you. It's now in your court. And that's a great responsibility that you share and one that's not easy. But I have faith that you will provide the guidance. And I'm talking beyond just the task force, to people who take the time to participate in the future of this magnificent state, will provide the guidance necessary to bring us even further into this century.
