

In a study co-sponsored by FDOT and the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), The Center for Urban Transportation Research produced a Vanpool Pricing and Financing Guide. The guide provides an overview of the various types of vanpool programs, their benefits, and their markets, specifically examining existing vanpool markets across the country. Seventeen techniques, traditional and creative, are identified for developing or expanding a vanpool program. An equal number of pricing techniques are identified. Principal Investigators Philip L. Winters and Francis Cleland also included chapters on building vanpool equity and regulatory issues affecting vanpooling.
