Comment:

We have no objection to this spec change. However, I cannot say that the proposed change makes much sense to me given the first paragraph says the equipment must be on the APL (is it possible to get this type of equipment on the APL without the manufacturer being on the qualified manufacturing list?)

Comment:

District 4 agrees with proposed changes. Please note, that the biggest issue is that some of the producers are reluctant or slow in getting their product on the QPL. This type of work is constant changing and upgrading so it is difficult to keep up with the QPL requirements. Thank you.
