Comment: (4-16-10) I'm concerned with the potential challenge of obtaining the 6 month moving average for the 6 months prior to letting. My experience is that only the current 6 month moving average is posted online and is updated every month. It is possible that the Contract Administrator may not be able to obtain the applicable 6 month moving average because of the updates. A simple solution is to have the Final Estimates Office provide the history of 6 month moving averages.

Response: This issue has already been discussed with the estimates office and they are going to keep this information available for these type contracts.
