How will the tonnage for the square yardage items be derived? Will it be theoretical from the mix design like spread rate calculations or will it be based on actual tonnage from the roadway report for the per square yard item. Without specifically addressing that calculation each District will inevitably come up with their own procedure.

Response: The bituminous adjustment will be based on the tonnage of asphalt produced and accepted on the project. Subarticle 234-9 and 234-10 addresses the calculation and the requirements on providing the certification of quantities for super pave base. No changes made.
