INTRODUCTION

As a Primary and Direct Recipient of federal funds through the Federal Transit Administration (FTA), the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) annually signs a Title VI/Nondiscrimination Assurance, U.S. DOT 1050.2A stating it complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and 49 C.F.R 21, the U.S. Department of Transportation's regulation which prohibits discrimination in federally assisted programs. In crafting its Transit Title VI Program, the Department relied upon guidance provided in FTA Circular C 4702.1B and FTA's Title VI Requirements and Guidelines for Federal Transit Administration Recipients (October 1, 2012).

The objectives of the program are as follows:

- To ensure that the level and quality of service is provided without regard to race, color, or national origin;
- To identify and address, as appropriate, disproportionately high and adverse human health and environmental effects, including social and economic effects of programs and activities on minority populations and low-income populations;
- To promote the fair participation of all affected populations in decision making; and
- To prevent the denial, reduction, or delay in benefits related to programs and activities that benefit minority populations or low-income populations' and to ensure meaningful access to programs and activities by person with Limited English Proficiency (LEP).

FTA regulations governing Sections 5310, 5311, and 5339 require that the State Management Plan, which is on file in the FTA Region IV Office and the Department, includes:

- A description of the process by which the state develops the annual program of projects submitted to FTA as part of its Section 5310, 5311, and 5339 grant applications;
- A description of the state's efforts to assist subrecipients in applying for Section 5310, 5311, and 5339 funds, including the Department's efforts to assist minority applicants;
- A description of the state's criteria for selection transit providers to participate in the programs; and
- A description of the state's ongoing process to monitor subrecipient's compliance with Title VI, such as report documentation and ongoing site visits to subrecipients.

TITLE VI NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

It is the policy of the Department to comply with all federal and state authorities requiring nondiscrimination, including but not limited to Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and Executive Order 12898 (Environmental Justice). The Department does not and will not exclude from participation in; deny the benefits of; or subject anyone to discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, or income. In addition, the Department complies with the Florida Civil Rights Act and does not permit discrimination on the basis of religion or family status in its programs, services, or activities.

TITLE VI/NONDISCRIMINATION PROGRAM - POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of the Florida Department of Transportation, under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Age Discrimination Act of 1975; Section 324 of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1973; Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987; and related statutes and regulations, that no person in the United States shall, on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability/handicap, or income status, be excluded from participation in,

be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination or retaliation under any federally or non-federally funded program or activity administered by the Department or its subrecipients.

To comply with this policy, civil rights and program area specialists must work closely to administer their mutual nondiscrimination program responsibilities. Each Assistant Secretary, District Secretary, Florida's Turnpike Enterprise Executive Director, Director, Manager, and Section Head of the Department's major program areas (Planning, Project Development / Environmental, Design, Right-of-Way, Construction, Maintenance, Public Transportation, and Research), as well as the Department's subrecipients, will be responsible for making a good faith effort to ensure that this policy is carried out in their respective program areas.

The authority to develop, maintain, implement, and monitor this policy is delegated to the Equal Opportunity Office Manager.

The Department's Title VI Nondiscrimination Program Policy can be found in Appendix A or by using the following links:

Spanish Version

Haitian Creole Version

To ensure the public is informed of its commitment to nondiscrimination, Title VI notices are posted at the physical addresses of all of the transit subrecipients detailed in the last section of this plan.

TITLE VI COMPLAINT FORM AND PROCEDURES

It is the Department's practice to informally resolve any complaints from the public through its customer service auspices. Persons with questions, concerns, or comments about possible discrimination may always contact the Title VI/Nondiscrimination Coordinator for assistance. The Coordinator will make reasonable efforts to respond to the inquiry.

However, any individual(s) who believes they have been subjected to discrimination prohibited by Title VI or other nondiscrimination authorities may file a formal complaint with the Department. A formal complaint must be filed within 180 calendar days of the alleged occurrence or when the alleged discrimination became known to the complainant(s). Allegations received by fax or e-mail will be acknowledged and processed once the identity or identities of the complainant(s) and the intent to proceed with the complaint have been established.

Individuals who feel that they have been discriminated against can complete a Title VI Complaint Form by using the links below:

English Version

Spanish Version

Those requiring assistance to file a formal complaint should contact the Department's State Title VI Coordinator, Aldrin Sanders. The District Transit Program Area Officers can also be contacted to file a complaint. The Department's Title VI/Nondiscrimination Administrator will perfect the charge by reducing it to writing and providing it via mail for review, revision, and execution. Upon receipt of a formal complaint, the Title VI/Nondiscrimination Coordinator will assess it for sufficiency, obtain additional information, if necessary, and provide it to the appropriate federal agency for assignment and disposition. Where the complaint is against a local agency, the Department may assume jurisdiction and investigate/adjudicate the case.

Regardless of the assignment of complaint investigation, all copies of formal complaints are provided to the appropriate US DOT modal agency for tracking and reporting. The procedure for filing can be found using the following link or located in Appendix B: Florida DOT's Title VI Procedure 275-010-010-f

The Department provides complaint filing information, including forms in English, Spanish and Haitian Creole on its website at the FDOT Transit webpage.

TRANSIT RELATED TITLE VI INVESTIGATIONS, COMPLAINTS, LAWSUITS

Florida DOT maintains a list of investigations that includes the date the investigation was filed; a summary of the allegation(s); the status of the investigation, lawsuit, or complaint; and actions taken by the recipient or subrecipient in response to the investigation, lawsuit, or complaint. Since September 2022, Florida DOT has not received any transit-related Title VI complaints.

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION PLAN

Because Florida is a state of extreme and variable diversity, the Florida DOT conducts Limited English Proficiency (LEP) analyses for defined study areas, not statewide. Staff and consultants are provided training on a regular basis to ensure that they understand how to identify those who are affected by our transportation decisions, including low income, minority, and traditionally under-represented.

The Department has a public involvement website and a sociocultural effects website which offer resources for staff and consultant use in determining degrees of effect. The Department's Environmental Screening Tool provides Census and American Community Survey (ACS) data at the tract and block group level, and block level when available. It provides the user the ability to determine: demographic characteristics within the county and within a defined study area; percentage of each population group relative to the total population of the study area; population groups that have been traditionally under-represented; number of census blocks adjacent to the project with proportionally large populations of those groups; and any of those groups representing a small proportion of the census block group, but having a concentrated presence in a small unit such as a census block. A series of demographic data collection and analysis webinars are available for anyone seeking this kind of information and can be found using the links below.

LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENCY (LEP) GUIDANCE

Individuals who do not speak English as their primary language and who have a limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English are Limited English proficient, or LEP. These individuals may be entitled to language assistance with respect to a particular type or program, service or activity.

The Department complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and related Federal authorities through a Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Guidance which is annually reviewed for compliance and effectiveness. To develop the Plan, the Department analyzed: its service population; the frequency with which it encounters LEP; the nature of its programs and services; and the resources available to the Department. The Plan describes when and to what extent language services are offered to those who are LEP. This document can be found in Appendix D or by using the following link: LEP Guidance.

The Department provides language assistance to LEP populations in a myriad of ways including but not limited to:

- Free verbal interpretation of any language with seven (7) days' notice;
- Use of "I Speak" language cards by staff who engage with LEP populations often;
- Community partnerships (local agencies, law enforcement, colleges/universities, local school districts and social service agencies) to assist with the Department's LEP responsibilities;
- A list of web-based translation services for use, when required;

- A list of telephone translation services for use, when required; and
- A list of staff interpreters and/or translators maintained by each District.

The Department is fortunate to have a very diverse workforce, many of whom competently speak and write languages other than English, and who are familiar with terms common to transportation. As such, the Department is often able to provide interpretation and translation services in-house. Additionally, the Department's LEP Guidance contains a safe harbor provision.

The Department is aware of the importance of ensuring that staff members know their obligations to provide meaningful access to information and services for LEP persons. In conjunction with the formerly bi-annual, now annual Quality Assurance Reviews in each district, the Department's State Title VI Coordinator provides Title VI training which educates staff about LEP policies and requirements. The Department's Environmental Management Office (EMO) provides training and online resources related to identifying and assisting LEP populations during the Public Involvement process. The EMO trainings are attended by project managers, planners, Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) staff, municipalities, and consultants to aid in identifying and ensuring timely and meaningful access by LEPs to the information and activities associated with upcoming projects or transit systems. Public notices and other public information or resources are printed in languages other than English where a concentration of LEP meeting the Safe Harbor requirements require the need for translation.

LANGUAGE ASSISTANCE PLAN

The Department's Language Assistance Plan (LAP) was developed to address interpretation and translation needs identified by the Department's LEP Guidance. The Plan provides the Department's overall language assistance resources but does not preclude the Districts Offices from offering more extensive or tailored services, depending on their needs. The Department's LAP can be found in Appendix E or by using the following link: Language Assistance Plan.

The next larger sized dots represent counties that received between $2,100,000 and $3,000,000. The next larger sized dots represent counties that received more than $3,000,00. The data for distribution of FTA funding within Florida comes from the FDOT Program of Projects for the Sections 5310, 5311, and 5339 programs for years 2022 through 2024.

STATEWIDE PLANNING PROCESS

In developing any planning process, including the Florida Transportation Plan (FTP), the Department and its partners receive input, feedback, and support from many regional and local partners, including groups traditionally underserved in public involvement activities (e.g., disadvantaged groups, and minority groups). As the transportation needs of a community may change over time, the Department also studies relevant demographic forecast data in developing long-term transportation plans. As part of the 2055 Florida Transportation Plan, five steering committee meetings were held around the state between May 2024 and June 2025 to engage regional and local partners and the public directly in the 2055 FTP development process. Promotion of the regional workshops by each District included efforts targeting traditionally underrepresented groups such as transportation disadvantaged, minority, and low-income residents, as well as older residents, students, and other groups representing the diversity of the region.

DESCRIPTION OF SUBRECIPIENT MONITORING AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

The Department’s District Public Transit Offices are required by the FTA to ensure that sub-recipients of federal funds comply with the federal requirements. To meet this federal mandate, the District monitoring consists of Triennial Reviews and the collecting of data through site visits, day-to-day technical assistance, vehicle inspections, and reports/forms. The Department reviews subrecipient Title VI Plans to ensure that they contain the required information. The Department uses reports and site visits to determine if subrecipients are completing the projects as outlined in the application and program of projects.

Title VI Complaint procedures, Title VI Complaint forms and a Sample Title VI Notice have been developed and distributed to subrecipients. The Complaint Procedure and Complaint form are available online and can be found at the websites below.

<https://www.fdot.gov/fdottransit/transitofficehome/grantsadministration.shtm>

The Department also provides demographic maps on request to complete Title VI Plans for subrecipients. Finally, a Title VI template is available for use by our subrecipients. Technical assistance in completing the application package is available for all first-time grant applicants. A record of funding requests received from private non-profit organizations, State or local government authorities and Indian tribes is maintained by the District offices.

Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Guidance

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION LIMITED

ENGLISH PROFICIENCY (LEP) GUIDANCE

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, The Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987; 42 USC 2000(d) to 2000-4; and Executive Order 13166 prohibit recipients of federal financial assistance from discriminating against individuals based on race, color and national origin. Other federal and state nondiscrimination regulations prohibit discrimination against individuals based on age, sex, disability, religion, and family or income status. The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT), as a recipient of federal financial assistance, takes reasonable steps to ensure meaningful access to its programs, services and activities for all citizens including those individuals with limited English proficiency. Individuals who do not speak English as their primary language and who have a limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English may be considered Limited English Proficient (LEP).

The FDOT interacts with persons who may be LEP in the administration of its programs, services and activities. This guidance ensures that LEP individuals are provided meaningful access to the FDOT's programs, services and activities.

LEP services can be provided in two ways: verbal interpretation and written translation of vital documents. Florida is a richly diverse state with residents and visitors from all over the world. FDOT's own staff is representative of that diversity and has competent language speakers of a variety of languages. FDOT does provide verbal interpretation with reasonable notice, regardless of the LEP language. FDOT's public advertisements clearly state that language services are available with specified notice. These advertisements are also routinely translated and posted both in minority publications and at public forums. FDOT also utilizes 'I Speak' cards to help identify language needs and match them to LEP services. Finally, most of FDOT's public meetings have staff members available who are competent speakers of the most frequently encountered languages in the FDOT district where the meeting is being held.

Written translation of vital documents is handled somewhat differently. The Department of Justice (DOJ) LEP Guidance requires that four (4) factors be considered when deciding whether written LEP services are required:

- The number or proportion of LEP persons in the eligible service population;
- The frequency with which LEP individuals come into contact with the program or activity;
- The importance of the service provided by the program; and □ The resources available.

Florida's population and diversity varies vastly from region to region, making a single LEP approach difficult. For example, the recent American Community Survey (ACS) (an office of the U. S. Census Bureau) from 2009 indicated an LEP population (percent of people 5 years old and over who speak English less than very well) at an estimated 11.6% statewide compared to 8.6% nationwide. However, this percentage is not evenly represented throughout the State. Further, frequency of contact with FDOT by LEP individuals also varies greatly. The Miami area sees a much higher proportion of Spanish and Creole speakers than does its more rural partners in the northern area of the state. Similarly, based on transportation needs, availability of public transit and long/short term transportation planning, the importance of the services also varies depending on the area of the State.

Generally, the FDOT offers written language services in Spanish and Haitian-Creole. Public information documents such as project flyers, public safety brochures, public transit information, and nondiscrimination processes are translated into these languages. Moreover, the FDOT also has guidelines in place through its Right of Way Office (ROW) to equitably address the language needs of individuals and families being displaced.

More specifically, FDOT is divided into seven (7) districts and Florida's Turnpike Enterprise. Each district serves a different region of the State, including the population centers of Miami, Tampa, Orlando and Jacksonville. Each district has a Title VI Coordinator responsible for disseminating Title VI and LEP information throughout the district with the assistance of Program Area Officers (PAOs) in the following programs: planning, environmental, design, right-of-way, construction, maintenance, public transportation, professional services, contractual services and public information (Procedure #275-010-010-e). In order to properly gauge the quantity, quality and type of LEP service for each region, the FDOT districts will each analyze their programs, services and activities using the four-factor test.

- 1. The number or proportion of LEP persons eligible to be served. The 2009 American Community Survey shows that the four (4) most prevalent languages spoken by individuals who are LEP in Florida (among the population 5 and over who speak English less than very well) are: Spanish (8.92%); French Creole (1.03%); Portuguese (.106%); and Vietnamese (.107%). The following table is representative of Florida's overall LEP demographics:

In addition, each District analyzed its census data and reported Spanish as the highest population of LEP individuals. However, the Districts found that their regional areas had other unique LEP populations, as represented by the following tables showing an analysis of the top four (4) languages spoken by LEP individuals in each district:

Note: For a breakdown by county within each District, see Appendix A.

FDOT used other sources to verify this data, including the environmental screening tool within the Efficient Transportation Decision Making (ETDM) Process. Another resource used to verify the LEP populations identified by the ACS was the U. S. Department of Education's Annual Consolidated State Performance Report (CSPR) for school year 2008-2009. The CSPR includes a section on LEP students in grades K-12 and identifies the most commonly spoken languages by those students. The CSPR identifies Spanish, Creole, Portuguese and Vietnamese as the most commonly spoken languages among Florida's LEP students (Appendix B).

The results of the analysis are that Spanish and French Creole are the largest representative populations statewide with lesser representation of Vietnamese, Portuguese and Chinese. In addition some Districts have varying LEP populations of Italian, German, Tagalog and Greek.

2. Frequency of contact with LEP persons. In order to validate the census information and determine which of the LEP populations most frequently have contact with FDOT programs, services and activities, FDOT conducted a field review of each of its District nondiscrimination programs. Data was collected on the frequency of telephone, mail and in-person contact with LEP individuals. The FDOT also required the Districts to report frequency of contact with LEP individuals on its Quarterly District Title VI Report (Report Number 275-010-11). The results indicate that Spanish is by far the most frequently encountered LEP language in all Florida's Districts, though the regions of central and south Florida have more frequency of contact. Creole was also a commonly encountered language, though generally only in the southeast portion of the state.
3. Nature or importance of the program. All of the FDOT's programs are important; however, those related to safety, public transit, ROW, environment, nondiscrimination and public involvement are among the most important. As such, publications and other material disseminated regarding these programs are routinely available in both Spanish and French Creole. Nevertheless, the FDOT is committed to providing meaningful access and will provide written translation for any of its documents, when reasonable, effective and within the available resources. In other cases, the FDOT will strive to provide alternative but meaningful accessibility. Moreover, the FDOT continually evaluates its programs, services and activities to ensure that persons who may be LEP are always provided with meaningful access. For a list of publications/documents in Spanish and French Creole, see Appendix C.
4. Resources available. The FDOT understands that it is a large entity serving a potentially large number of Spanish and French Creole speaking individuals. The FDOT makes every effort to make its programs, services and activities accessible to LEP individuals. In addition to documents that are routinely published in the most frequently encountered languages, the FDOT will use available resources, both internal and external, to accommodate reasonable requests for translation. Further, the FDOT's policies require free oral interpretation services, regardless of the language, with seven (7) days notice.

In addition, the FDOT has identified, developed and uses the following:

- a. District lists of staff who volunteers to assist as interpreters and/or translators if needed. Lists are verified and updated annually by the District Title VI Coordinators and provided to the Statewide Title VI Coordinator.
- b. Individuals who have contact with the public are provided with "I Speak" language cards to identify language needs in order to match them with available services. Language cards are verified and distributed annually by the District Title VI Coordinators.
- c. The FDOT through the District Offices have developed partnerships with local agencies, organizations, law enforcement, colleges/universities, local school districts and social service agencies that are available to assist with its LEP responsibilities.
- d. A list of web based translation services for use, when required.
- e. A list of telephone translation services for use, when required.

Safe Harbor Stipulation

Federal law provides a "Safe Harbor" stipulation so that recipients such as FDOT can ensure with greater certainty that they comply with their obligations to provide written translations in languages other than English. A "safe harbor" means that if a recipient (FDOT) provides written translations in certain circumstances; such action will be considered strong evidence of compliance with the FDOT's written-translation obligations under Title VI.

The failure to provide written translations under the circumstances does not mean there is noncompliance, but rather provides a guide for recipients that would like greater certainty of compliance that can be provided by a fact-intensive, four factor analysis. For example, even if a safe harbor is not used, if written translation of a certain document(s) would be so burdensome as to defeat the legitimate objectives of its program, it is not necessary. Other ways of providing meaningful access, such as effective oral interpretation of certain vital documents, might be acceptable under such circumstances.

Strong evidence of compliance with the recipient's written-translation obligations under

'safe harbor' includes providing written translations of vital documents for each eligible LEP language group that constitutes 5% or 1,000, whichever is less, of the population of person's eligible to be served or likely to be affected or encountered. FDOT's translation of other documents, if needed, can be provided orally.

This safe harbor provision applies to the translation of written documents only. It does not affect the requirement to provide meaningful access to LEP individuals through competent oral interpreters where oral language services are needed and are reasonable.

CONCLUSION:

FDOT recognizes that language needs will change as Florida's population changes. Further, FDOT is required to assess its programs and services each year to determine compliance with various nondiscrimination regulations. As such, FDOT will revisit the LEP plan each year and make appropriate changes, as needed. For questions or concerns regarding the FDOT's commitment to nondiscrimination or to request LEP services, contact Aldrin T. Sanders, Interim FDOT Statewide Title VI Coordinator at (850) 414-4764 or by email Aldrin.Sanders@dot.state.fl.us .

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION LANGUAGE ASSISTANCE PLAN

INTRODUCTION:

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) believes that early, extensive and sustained public involvement is critical to providing safe and equitable transportation facilities for everyone in Florida, including those who are limited English proficient (LEP), either because English is not their native language, or they have low literacy in general. Providing meaningful access to essential FDOT services for LEP individuals not only ensures a balance in public interaction, but also complies with key civil rights authorities, including Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (which in part prohibits national origin discrimination) and regulations issued subsequent to Executive Order 13166, Improving Access to Services for Persons with Limited English Proficiency. To ensure LEP access, FDOT developed a Limited English Proficiency \(LEP\) Guidance to evaluate the number or proportion of LEP persons; the frequency with which these persons contact FDOT; nature and importance of FDOT services; and the resources available to FDOT. FDOT revisits and updates the guidance, as necessary, at least every three (3) years. To view the LEP Guidance, click the link above or contact the FDOT Equal Opportunity Office at 850-414-4750 (711 Florida Relay).

This Language Assistance Plan (Plan) was developed to address interpretation and translation needs identified by the FDOT LEP Guidance. FDOT is a state agency comprised of a Central Office in Tallahassee and eight (8) districts. This Plan provides FDOT's overall language assistance resources but does not preclude the districts from offering more extensive or tailored LEP services, depending on their various needs. For more information on additional services available in particular areas, visit the FDOT Public Information Office or call the Central Office Communication Director at 850-414-4590 (711 Florida Relay).

FDOT has divided the Plan into three (3) parts addressing the training, verbal interpretation, and written translation resources used to assist those who are LEP, as well as measuring compliance and effectiveness. As with the LEP Guidance, this Plan will be regularly reviewed for accuracy and updated no less than once every three (3) years. For additional information, contact the plan administrator, Aldrin T. Sanders at 850-414-4764, Aldrin.Sanders@dot.state.fl.us.

I. Staff Training

FDOT has more than 6,000 employees statewide, all of whom receive nondiscrimination training every three (3) years, tracked by the FDOT Equal Opportunity Office. In addition, FDOT has a robust, ongoing civil rights training initiative that includes staff in its districts, as well as those in the Local Agency Program (LAP) and Florida Metropolitan Planning Organizations (MPOs). For public involvement, FDOT offers several intensive training sessions each year and comprehensive guidance providing attendees with the most effective way of reaching vulnerable populations. Regardless of the topic or audience, FDOT always incorporates LEP information, including a description of the four-factor analysis and tips for providing LEP services in an effective but resource-conscious manner. Finally, FDOT ensures that all staff participating in direct or phone contact with the public receive annual refresher training specifically on providing language services.

Beyond staff training, FDOT offers a number of resources to employees and sub-recipients on effective communication with LEP individuals. Both the Planning and LPA handbooks have sections dedicated to LEP provisions, as do the FDOT Project Development & Environmental Manual and Public Involvement Handbook. These resources are regularly distributed in the field and easily accessible on the Internet. Further, FDOT believes that FHWA's publication How to Engage Low-Literacy and LEP Populations in Transportation Decision-making is still the best resource of its kind. FDOT provides links to this document and promotes its use among employees, sub-recipients and the industry. FDOT annually updates and publishes a nondiscrimination Resources for Practitioners document, available in hard copy or via the web. The list includes several resources that are specifically for LEP services, including links to the popular I Speak cards. Other resources on the list also provide LEP information, ancillary to more general civil rights topics.

II. Verbal Interpretation

Florida is culturally rich, with residents and visitors from all over the world. FDOT is proud of this diversity, including the many different languages spoken. Therefore, FDOT requires that its districts and various departments provide verbal interpretation to LEP individuals regardless of the language, given reasonable notice. FDOT includes the following statements on all public notices and project information documents:

“Public participation is solicited without regard to race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, disability or family status. Persons who require special accommodations under the American with Disabilities Act (ADA) or persons who require translation services (free of charge) are asked to contact the [person listed in the notice] at least [up to but no longer than ten (10)] days before the meeting.”

FDOT refers to its LEP Guidance when providing this statement in areas with high numbers of persons speaking Florida's identified LEP languages, Spanish and Haitian Creole. In these areas, FDOT uses Spanish and Creole language media sources to advise communities in their primary language of available language services:

La participación del público es solicitado sin distinción de raza, color, origen nacional, edad, sexo, religión, discapacidad o estado civil. Las personas que requieran acomodaciones especiales bajo la Ley para las Personas con Impedimentos (Americans with Disabilities Act), conocida por sus siglas en inglés ADA, o las personas que requieran servicios de traducción (de forma gratuita) deben comunicarse con [la persona que aparece en el aviso] al menos [hasta, pero no más de diez (10)] días antes de la reunión.

Nou mande patisipasyon tout moun nenpòt ras, koulè, peyi ou soti, laj, gason ou fanm, relijyon, andikape ou pa, ak nenpòt sitiyaasyon fanmiw. Andikape American with Disabilities Act (ADA) rekonèt yo ki bezwen sipò espesyal oswa moun ki bezwen tradiksyon pap peye anyen, Selman rele nan nimerò telefòn sa xxxxxxx pou pi piti xxxx jou avan reyiniyon an.

FDOT's workforce is an almost exact demographic reflection of the state it serves. As such, many FDOT employees and consultants are fluent in languages other than English. Each FDOT district and the Turnpike Enterprise maintains a list of employees who are 1) competent foreign language speakers and 2) who are fluent with transportation industry terms and concepts in their additional language(s). As not all bilingual speakers are equally capable of reading and writing at a level equivalent to speaking, the list is annotated for those who can provide both verbal interpretation and written translation. Again, though not assessed, language mastery is required, up to and including the ability to discuss/translate industry terms-of-art and concepts in the foreign language. FDOT Districts update the lists every three (3) years.

Employee Interpretation Lists are not public documents and FDOT does not encourage public contact of its employees based on language ability. Rather, all staff that assists the public has access to the list, along with other tools to identify the language and refer the LEP individual to a representative who can competently assist.

FDOT recognizes that it may not be able to provide all verbal interpretation using in-house resources. Therefore, each district has the authority to purchase professional interpretation services, either on contract or via minutes of use. Each district has identified one or more interpretation service providers and either executed a suitable contract or otherwise arranged for service on hand when/if need arises. FDOT also recommends that each district have regular contact with institutions of higher education (IHE) in their areas, as schools are often able to provide language resources with short notice.

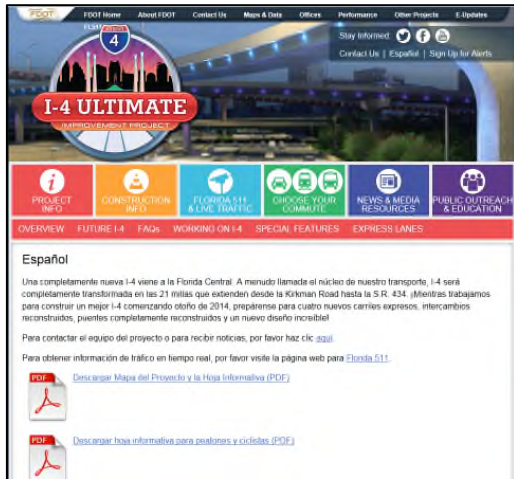

III. Written Translation

In its LEP Guidance, FDOT determined that while transportation is of critical importance to the lives and wellbeing of those living or visiting Florida, many of its documents lack essential information necessitating translation to Spanish or Haitian Creole, the two (2) representative populations whose languages were identified as LEP service-eligible based on the four-factor analysis. FDOT believes that information regarding civil rights, safety, and property appraisal/acquisition/relocation (realty) are of vital importance and require translation. Therefore, general distribution information for these programs has been translated into the two (2) prevalent languages. Moreover, 511, FDOT's telephone number for advising the public of transportation and traffic related incidents, is accessible in Spanish both by telephone and by web.

However, due to the demographic diversity among FDOT's districts, the decision to translate project documents is made case by case, based on the language(s) represented in the project area. Further, FDOT carefully evaluates project documents to determine whether translation is the best method of reaching the public. FDOT is committed to providing meaningful access, and will provide translation of any document when reasonable, effective and within available resources. FDOT Districts routinely provide vital information by developing Fact Sheets in English, Spanish and Creole (as needed) for major

Design/Construction projects. The Districts also provide translation of plan and project documents for common occurrences such as lane closures, new sidewalk and pedestrian ramp additions, and new lighting, traffic signals and pavement marking.

Similarly, all of FDOT significant transportation projects use websites to provide information to the public. These sites are available in English and Spanish and, as needed, Haitian Creole.

In districts with much higher proportions of Spanish and Haitian-Creole speakers than the more northern areas of the state, when warranted, FDOT will incorporate Spanish and Haitian-Creole translation capacities to major project websites to meet LEP needs. <http://www.95express.com/>.

IV. Measuring Effectiveness

To ensure that civil rights programs, including LEP, are substantially compliant and meaningfully delivered, FDOT annually reviews all of its federal program areas. As part of these Quality Assurance Reviews (QARs), the State Title VI/Nondiscrimination Coordinator collects alternative language publications and media sources in each district and then compares them to area demographics. The Coordinator also tests the accuracy of the district interpreter/translator list to ensure that it is up to date and that employees remain willing to provide their services.

In addition, FDOT quarterly collects field information on the number of instances verbal interpretation and written translation is requested and provided. This data is loosely compared to American Community Survey (ACS) demographics for the various districts showing English spoken “less than very well.” If a disparity exists between the figures, the Coordinator schedules a special emphasis review to further assess compliance. The Coordinator also maintains this data for annual reporting to federal funding authorities.

V. Conclusion

FDOT believes that its alternative language services meet or exceed LEP requirements by focusing on customer service rather than exclusively on legal compliance. To date, FDOT has no record of unmet language service needs and, though it regularly processes Title VI and other complaints, none have been related to LEP.
